Mayor Jacobs Speaks About Graduations, School Security, Upcoming Events

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.— During his Weekly Update, which will post about 3 p.m. today, Knox County Mayor Glenn Jacobs talks about a number of items, including his attendance at local high school graduations, school security, and his Wednesday morning cicada feast.

“I believe that we must have armed officers in our schools for the safety of our students,” the Mayor says. “I also realize that different parts of our community may take different approaches to school security and that’s okay. So, please, call your elected officials, email them, come to public meetings, and speak at public forum about this issue, especially if you are a parent of a Knox County Schools student.”

The Mayor also reminds folks about the Free Fishing Day event at the Cove at Concord Park on Saturday and he talks about the Second Saturday Concert Series, which also kicks off at The Cove and Clayton Park this weekend.

Finally, Mayor Jacobs announces the return of his popular Eat ‘n Greets and where he will have lunch next.
